Our guiding principle is to live our passion by valuing plants, Men & Women.

Our sourcing reflects a thoughtful consideration of contemporary environmental issues. In this approach, we remain highly attentive to the origin and quality of the plants used in our natural ingredients.

At Herbarom, we are dedicated to honoring the integrity of raw plant materials as well as the entire ecosystem in which they thrive.

Our plants are meticulously chosen, enabling us to:

- ensure the availability of raw materials through contractual commitments
- define and acquire a quality tailored to your project.

Plants originating from local and French sources

Owing to our proximity to the agricultural sector and farmers, we prioritize close collaboration with French producers situated as near as possible to our factories.

We consistently prioritize sourcing the most local crops available to support endemic plants and minimize our environmental impact.

The traceability of our ingredients

It also serves as a means for us to address the challenges faced by your brand and the expectations of your customers.

Our requirements emphasize the quality, integrity, and purity of our products.

To guarantee the quality of plant supplies, we organize the sourcing from the field to the distillation units. Our on-the-ground presence, coupled with our understanding of the regions and various producers, fosters a relationship of trust among all stakeholders in the supply and guarantees the traceability of our ingredients.
